

ABSTRACT

To provide a coated leather being excellent in stain removability and solvent resistance and having cold resistance and 5 flexing fatigue resistance equal to those of conventional urethane resin coating. A coating film obtained by curing a fluorine-containing resin coating composition comprising a fluorine-containing resin having a reactive curable group and a curing agent is formed as an outermost layer directly on the leather or through a primer layer.

2025-04-04 14:00:00